

Group Project Assessment Form

Each group member will assess the group and turn in their paper separately.

In any group it is natural and necessary for a leader to emerge. Who emerged as the groups' leader? Was there more than one leader? Explain.

Was the evolution of leadership easy or hard? If the process was difficult, what happened?

Did all of the group members take on an appropriate portion of the task, not too much or too little? Give examples.

Did all of the group members contribute their ideas and energy to the project willingly? How so?

Were group members prepared, on time and present for meetings?

Did group members share their work with the group in a timely manner so that group feedback could be incorporated?

Did you feel that members of the group listened to your input?

Did you listen to others ideas with an open mind?

Working in a group situation can be challenging and rewarding. Was there anything particularly noteworthy about this group? Anything you think I should know about the process?

List the members of your group (not including yourself) and assign them a grade from 0-20 pts.